ANNUAL INDEX VOLUME 12 1986–7

Volume 12 Number 1
Autumn 1986

The experience of German and Japanese subsidiaries in Britain 5
David Sawers

Informational market efficiency: some implications for economic and business policy decisions 22
Richard C. Morris, David A. Peel and Peter F. Pope

Managerial strategies and 'styles' in industrial relations 40
Michael Poole

The interface of strategic and marketing plans 54
Gordon E. Greenley

Improving industry's image 63
Keith MacMillan

Strategy: framing business intentions 77
Shiv Sahai Mathur

Manpower matters: overcoming professional skill shortages 98

Volume 12 Number 2
Winter 1986

In search of competence 5
Iain L. Mangham

Doing business in America 13
Robert E. Johnson

Experiences with office automation: some lessons and recommendations 25
Rudy A. Hirschheim and David F. Feeny

Foresight in forecasting: the case of petrochemicals 41
Richard P. Kendon, William A. Kerr and Susan E. Cullen

Business behavior and public co-operation: a structural perspective 58
Jonathan S. Boswell

Strategic leadership in theory and practice 72
E. Andrew Life

Manpower matters: welfare and working conditions 92

Volume 12 Number 3
Spring 1987

Improving the board's effectiveness 5
Robert I. Tricker

China's special economic zones: the cultural and managerial challenges 21
Martin Lockett

The winner's curse in the merger game 32
Robert Dickie, Allen Michel and Israel Shaked

Corporate policies and working couples 52
Cary L. Cooper

Small firms, advanced manufacturing technology and flexibility 58
Mark Dodgson

Effective retrenchment: human resource implications 76
Cynthia Hardy

New Management Update Supplement 93

Volume 12 Number 4
Summer 1987

From industrial policy to enterprise policy in Britain 5
Stephen Wilks

A changing view of factory labour 21
Bob Winslow

Competitive advantage through information technology 36
David W. L. Wightman

Evaluating public sector programmes 46
Hok Lin Leung

Introducing computer integrated manufacturing 60
Althea Jones and Terry Webb

Management Update Supplement: 75
Strategy and Organisation;
Marketing;
Human Resources Management;
Accounting and Finance

The Journal of Management carries book reviews in each issue.